

CALL FOR PAPERS

Honors in Higher Education: Proceedings from HERU (The Biennial Conference of Honors Education at Research Universities)

Co-editors:

Bette L. Bottoms, University of Illinois at Chicago

Nichola D. Gutgold, Penn State University

Consider submitting your conference paper for publication in Honors in Higher Education: Proceedings from HERU. This on-line, open-access format publication will be published once every two years, concurrent with the biennial HERU conference. Papers may be theoretical or practical, historical or current, and may address any area of honors education including (but not limited to) these examples:

Admissions and recruitment

Advising and retention

Diversity and access

Curriculum development

Funding models

Faculty recruitment and development

Fund development and alumni engagement

Learning outcomes and assessment

First year experiences

Residential communities

Experiential learning, service learning, and global experiences

Undergraduate research and thesis model

Athletics and co-curricular

Digital technologies

Submission Guidelines

Prospective authors should send all material as a PDF by e-mail attachment to Melissa Meyer (mah300@psu.edu) by July 1, 2015. No mailed submissions will be considered. To allow for double-blind review, delete any identifying material from submitted manuscripts. Authors are free to use the manuscript style of their primary discipline (MLA, APA, etc.), with the exception that internal-text citation to a list of final references (bibliography) is required, in accordance with MLA or APA guidelines. There is no minimum page length requirement and short reports are welcomed; however, the maximum is 25 typed pages inclusive of references. Submissions and inquiries should be directed to Nichola Gutgold at ngutgold@psu.edu